- (1) “intentional”. A defendant's state of mind is intentional or a defendant acts intentionally with respect to a result or to conduct if the defendant's conscious objective is to engage in such conduct or to cause such a result.
- (2) “negligently”. A defendant acts negligently or conduct is negligent if, with respect to a result or circumstance, a person should be aware of a substantial and unjustifiable risk that such a result will occur or that such a circumstance exists, and his or her conduct involves a significant deviation from the standard of care that a reasonable person would observe.
- (3) “recklessly”. A defendant acts recklessly or conduct is reckless if, with respect to a result or circumstance, a person consciously and unjustifiably disregards a substantial risk that such a result will occur or that such a circumstance exists, and the risk is of such a nature and degree that its disregard involves a gross deviation from the standard of conduct that a reasonable person would observe in the situation.

(Revised by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 104. Burden of Proof.

(a) The Chitimacha Tribe of Louisiana has the burden of proving each element of an offense beyond a reasonable doubt.

(b) Whenever the defendant introduces sufficient evidence of a defense to support a reasonable belief as to the existence of that defense, the Chitimacha Tribe of Louisiana has the burden of disproving such defense beyond a reasonable doubt unless this Code or another ordinance expressly requires the defendant to prove the defense by a preponderance of evidence.

(Revised by Ordinance #01-15; Adopted: February 5, 2015; Effective: February 5, 2015; Revised by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 106. Ignorance or Mistake.

(a) Ignorance or mistake as to a matter of fact or law is a defense if:

- (1) the ignorance or mistake negates the necessary mental state required for the commission of an offense; or
- (2) the law provides that the state of mind established by such ignorance or mistake constitutes a defense.

(b) Whenever in this Code an offense depends on a child being less than twelve (12) years of age, it is no defense that the defendant did not know the child's age or reasonably believed the child to be older than twelve (12) years of age. When criminality depends on the child's being less than a critical age other than twelve (12) years of age, it is an affirmative defense for the defendant to prove that he reasonably believed the child to be above the critical age.

(Revised by Ordinance #01-15; Adopted: February 5, 2015; Effective: February 5, 2015; Revised by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 107. Intoxication.

(a) Intoxication is not a defense unless it negates an element of the offense.

(b) When negligence or recklessness is an element of the offense, self-induced intoxication is no defense.

(c) Intoxication does not, in itself, constitute a mental disease or defect within the meaning of Section 108.

(Revised by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 108. Mental Disease or Defect.

(a) A person is not responsible for criminal conduct if, at the time of such conduct, as a result of mental disease or defect, he or she lacks substantial capacity either to appreciate the wrongfulness of that conduct or to conform that conduct to the requirements of law.

(b) As used in this Section, the terms "mental disease or defect" do not include an abnormality manifested only by repeated criminal or otherwise anti-social conduct.

(Revised by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 109. Self-defense.

(a) The use of reasonable force is a defense when a person reasonably believes that such force is immediately necessary to protect himself or herself.

(b) A person is not justified in using force for the purpose of resisting arrest, execution of process, or other performance of duty by a public servant regardless of whether the conduct of the public servant is lawful; but clearly excessive force on the part of public servant may be resisted.

(c) A person is not justified in using force if the conduct of the person against whom force is used was provoked by the defendant himself with the intent to cause physical injury to that other person.

(Revised by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 110. Defense of Others.

The use of force in order to defend a third person is a defense if:

(a) the defendant reasonably believes that the person whom he seeks to protect would be justified in using such protective force; and

(b) the defendant has not, by provocation or otherwise, forfeited the right of self-defense; and

(Revised by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 112. Use of Deadly Force.

The use of deadly force is a defense only where the defendant reasonably believes that such force is necessary to protect himself, herself, or another person from death, great or serious bodily harm, kidnaping, a sexual act (as defined in Section 306) compelled by force or threat, or to prevent or terminate the commission or attempted commission of arson.

(Revised by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 113. Duress.

Duress is a defense only where the defendant reasonably believes that he or she is compelled to act by the threat of death or serious bodily harm such as would render a person of reasonable firmness incapable of resisting such threat.

Sec. 114. Entrapment.

Entrapment is a defense only where a law enforcement officer induces the defendant to commit an offense using persuasion or other means such as would cause a normally law-abiding person to commit the act or acts that are elements of the offense. Conduct merely affording the defendant an opportunity to commit the offense does not constitute entrapment.

CHAPTER 2. ANTICIPATORY CRIMES.

Sec. 201. Attempts.

(a) Prohibited acts. A person, with intent to commit a crime, does an act which is a substantial step toward, and more than preparation for, the commission of the crime, commits an attempt to commit that crime.

(b) Impossibility of act. An act may be an attempt notwithstanding the circumstances under which it was performed or the means employed to commit the crime intended or the act itself were such that the commission of the crime was not possible, unless such impossibility would have been clearly evident to a person of normal understanding.

(c) Defense. It is a defense to a charge of attempt that the crime was not committed because the accused desisted voluntarily and in good faith abandoned the intention to commit the crime.

(d) Penalty. A person who attempts to commit a crime shall, upon conviction, be sentenced in the same manner as if that person had completed the crime.

(Added by Ordinance #03-17; Adopted: January 12, 2017; Effective: February 1, 2017)

Sec. 202. Criminal Complicity and Solicitation.

- (1) acting with the state of mind sufficient for the commission of the offense, the defendant causes another person to engage in such conduct; or
- (2) with the intent that an offense be committed, the defendant solicits, request, commands, induces or intentionally aids another person to engage in such conduct.

(b) Defense. A person is not liable under this Section for the conduct of another if he terminates his complicity prior to the commission of the offense and gives timely warning to law enforcement authorities or otherwise makes proper effort to prevent the commission of the offense.

(c) Penalty. The penalty for being an accomplice to a crime is the same as the penalty for being a principal in the crime.

(a) In addition to the procedures set forth in Title II of the Code, at the arraignment for a defendant arrested for a crime established under this Chapter, the judge shall make findings of fact and law that clearly state whether the Chitimacha Tribal Court has jurisdiction over the defendant. In doing so, the Chitimacha Tribal Court shall ascertain whether:

- (2) The defendant is employed within the Chitimacha Reservation;
- (3) The defendant is a spouse or intimate partner of an enrolled member of the Tribe;
- (4) The defendant is a non-member Indian who resides within the Chitimacha Reservation; and
- (5) The victim is a member of the Tribe or a non-member Indian who resides within the Chitimacha Reservation.

(b) In order to make the determination required under Subsection (a), the judge may receive any evidence relevant to the issue of whether the Chitimacha Tribal Court has jurisdiction over the defendant from any reliable sources as may be available.

(c) If the judge's findings establish the Chitimacha Tribal Court's jurisdiction, the determination shall identify whether the Chitimacha Tribal Court is exercising its general jurisdiction or special domestic violence jurisdiction pursuant to Section 603. The Chitimacha Tribal Court shall then proceed with the remainder of the procedures provided for by the Code, including those required under Section 605.

(d) If the judge determines that the Chitimacha Tribal Court does not have jurisdiction, the judge shall notify the law enforcement agency holding the defendant in custody, dismiss the Tribe's charges, and release the defendant to the appropriate jurisdiction.

If the defendant is too intoxicated or impaired for the judge to conduct the inquiry under Subsection (a), the judge may order that the defendant appear before the Chitimacha Tribal Court on the following business day for the conclusion of the proceeding. Nothing herein shall prevent the judge from using evidence relevant to the inquiries regarding jurisdiction from any other reliable sources as may be available and making a determination based solely on those alternative sources.

- (3) Provide the law enforcement agency with any available information about the location of the offender as is required to protect the safety of the victim.

(f) No contact order. When any person is arrested for or charged with a crime of domestic violence, the Chitimacha Tribal Court may issue a no contact order prohibiting the defendant from having any contact with the victim or the victim's dependents or immediate family members. Upon presentation of a foreign protection order by a protected person, the law enforcement officer shall assist in enforcing all of its terms, except matters related to child custody, visitation, and support. A foreign protection order that includes terms regarding child custody, visitation, and/or support must be domesticated before those terms can be enforced.
